KOREAN NUCLEAR PROGRAMME & RISING TENSION

- By Arjun Sharma & Hannan Arshad

The recent tension caused by threat of Missile Tests conducted by North Korea has drastically increased the speed and scope for the production of nuclear weapons. It is a great issue of international concern today which if not stopped would pose the risk of disastrous 'Third World War'

The (UNSC) focused on the agenda of “North Korean Nuclear Programme and Rising Tensions”.

The delegates from different nations shared their viewpoint. All had their diverse opinion and stance. Their expression voiced their concern and a plea for disarmament.

South Korean delegates advocated the use of nuclear bomb on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. They pointed out that it was their last option to bring the war to an end. The opinion was strongly condemned by most of the delegates.

Opinions raised

The first chapter of BBS MUN UNSC went exceptionally well. The delegates enthusiastically participated in the debate.

Out of the many motions raised, three were passed. The delegate of Japan went ahead with the June 12th summit and the problems related with its implementation on North Korea.

The Russian delegates raised the question on how North Korean nuclear programme came into existence.

The major issue discussed was 'North Korean Nuclear Programme and the rising tension'.

School of Perspective

As the debate proceeded, diverse estimation of aspects were brought forth.

Indian delegates put their foot firmly stating that the knowledge related to nuclear technology dealt only with 'Educational Aspect'. It in no way was intended to be disruptive. They condemn the act and sternly mentioned that if conditions worsened then India would definitely support

USA.

The delegates of Thailand expressed their displeasure on the use of weapons and opposed its act of terrifying other countries rather than using them for defence purpose.

The views of Sri Lankan delegates were soberly put forth considering North Korea as an ally of USA, opposing the growth of Sri Lanka.

Pakistani delegates criticized North Korea for its act of violence. However, they supported it in other aspects as both the countries have flourishing trade relations, and are cordial in all matters of economy and peace.

Delegates of Ethiopia pointed out its breaking up of all the treaties with North Korea

The delegates of North Korea pressed their point that it had a better chance at making a difference here. He held the view that North Korea hasn't still attacked any nation.

Correlative Discourse would unwrap a solution – CHAIRPERSON

The chairperson proved to be a lifeline and her constant advice assisted the delegates in formulating their opinion. Whenever the discussion seemed to be taking a corner seat, the chairperson with her indefatigable zest kept the debate alive and going. She concluded that the nuclear weapons are not only a threat but also an issue that is responsible for global worry, which in turn is a cause of immeasurable concern.

Mutual talk and peaceful agreement was her advice.

It may thus be encapsulated that an interactive and correlative discourse among countries would definitely bring about a tranquil and harmonious solution, ending the horde of nuclear race.
